A NEW COMPANY IS OWNER OF THE STREET CAR LINE

JANESVILLE STREET RAILWAY HAS CHANGED HANDS.

DEAL CLOSED ON SATURDAY

Improvements May Be Started Immediately If Local Stockholders Sincerely Their Worthless Stock Certificates.

In New York on Saturday was consummated the deal whereby the Janesville Street Railway, which has been controlled by the Blahon estate of Philadelphia for many years, passed into the hands of a syndicate of New York capitalists, the only Janesville man interested in the company being Thos. S. Nolan.

This transfer was announced some weeks ago as a possibility, but owing to legal entanglements the Blahons were not able to give clear title of the street car line until Saturday last, when the last papers were finally signed in New York and the first steps toward giving Janesville a new street car service took place.

It is understood that the sum paid for the line was in the neighborhood of $45,000. This includes the purchase of the bonds, some $75,000, which were held by the Blahon estate, having been taken over by Geo. W. Blahon of Philadelphia some years ago after the road had been constructed.

The road, it is understood, owes in the neighborhood of $150,000, the bonds having been secured by a mortgage on the interest upon which is unpaid for many years. While from this there is some $100,000 in stock held by Janesville people.

This latter stock, amounting to some $10,000, is practically worthless under the old corporation and it is the one stumbling block to the immediate improvement of the road by the new owners. If it is surrendered to the new owners the work of laying new tracks and putting new cars in operation will be started at once and much can be done this winter before zero weather.

If this stock is not surrendered the only alternative for the new owners will be to throw the road into the hands of the receiver, which will mean that it will be a year before anything definite can be done. The new company has not as yet elected its new officers and will work under the old articles of incorporation of the Janesville Street Railway Company for the present at least, although their capital stock will have to be increased to meet the improvements which will be made.

The delay in the transfer of the property by the Blahon estate was due to the fact that the trustees for (Continued on page 8).

SECRETARY WILSON BREAKS THE RECORD

Head Of Dept. Of Agriculture Has Been In Service Longer Than Any Man Before Employed By Uncle Sam.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Washington, D. C., Nov. 20.—Secretary Wilson, the head of the Department of Agriculture, today broke all records for length of service in the cabinet. Until today the record for length of service as cabinet minister was held by Albert Gallatin of Pennsylvania, who was Secretary of the Treasury in President Jefferson's first administration and who served in that office for twelve years, eight months and twenty days. Secretary Wilson was appointed by President McKinley on March 4, 1897, and having served continuously ever since, today surpassed the record of Albert Gallatin.

The Department of Agriculture is a comparatively new branch of the government service and Mr. Wilson is the third man to hold the position of secretary of that department. His predecessors, Jerry Rusk and Sterling Morton were both good men, but it required a builder and organizer like Wilson to carry along the work of the department to the point where the application of science and organized methods to farming could produce great benefit to the tiller of the soil.

Mr. Wilson is now seventy-four years of age, but he does not look it. He is more than six feet tall, is powerfully built, has a pair of keen gray eyes that follow closely every word of every narrative that comes to him while he is sitting in authority at his desk in the department. He yields little to the dictates of fashion in the matter of dress, confining himself to the garb of sober things, but his immaculate linen, not only in his daily life, suggests the man who is as infallibly regular in his habits of dress as in everything else that concerns him.

The Secretary, on his way to the long service record, has figured in public life before he came into his present office. He spent three terms in Congress and gained a knowledge of official routine; then he went back to Iowa to become a professor at the Iowa Agricultural college. After it was that the peculiarly appropriate combination struck President McKinley. Here was a man who was a farmer, who knew the practical side, but who also, by reason of his life as a pedagogic was familiar with the scientific phases of farming, and who, having served the nation in Congress, understood law-making and administrative work. It was this exceptional fitness which caused him to be appointed for the position of Secretary of Agriculture.

YOUTH IS ON TRIAL FOR BRUTAL MURDER

Case Of James Harmon, Jr., Of Boston Charged With Killing Maud Hartley Begun Today.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Boston, Mass., Nov. 20.—The case of James M. Harmon, Jr., who is charged with the murder of Miss Maud Hartley a year ago, was called for trial today in the court at East Cambridge. Young Harmon and Miss Hartley, young men and women, lived in the same house and had been playmates and friends since childhood. On the morning of the tragedy Harmon lay in wait for his victim and shot and killed her as she was about to board a car on her way to work. It was not known at the time that any serious love affair existed between the two and no adequate motive has ever been advanced for the killing. It is supposed that a plea of insanity will be made by the defense.

SEEK CESSATION OF LABOR ON SABBATH

Sabbath Observance Convention Opened Two Days' Session in Minneapolis Today.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 20.—The discussion of the best means to procure for all so far as possible an opportunity for religious worship, moral improvement, and physical rest from labor on Sunday, will be the subject of discussion and consideration at the Sabbath Observance convention which opened a two days' session here today. About four hundred delegates, representing churches and church organizations of different denominations in all parts of the state, as well as representatives of various civic organizations sympathetic with the Sunday observance movement, are in attendance. An attempt will be made to bring about a general observance of the Sabbath which will not be considered as an arbitrary interference with personal liberty. The various phases of the movement will be discussed by President Cyrus Northrup, Dr. S. G. Smith, the Rev. Andrew Gillies and many other distinguished delegates.

Consensus Completed Today: The taking of the religious census was completed today, the last names being secured this morning. The compilation will be made Wednesday or sometime the first part of next week.

YOUTHFUL THIEF IS CAPTURED BY POSSE OF POLICE

Thirteen-year-old Boy Is Caught Trying to Rob St. Louis Bank.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 20.—Tom Gallagher, 13 years of age, was captured after a wagon load of policemen had surrounded the Lafayette bank at Broadway and Park avenue early today. He confessed that he with another boy had planned to rob the bank.

The other boy, who was acting as lookout, fled when the patrol wagon appeared. Gallagher, who had ascended to the third floor of the building in an effort to get into the bank's quarters, was captured as he descended a fire escape.

The boy had no burglar's tools and no weapons and declared the other lad had induced him to engage in the scheme to rob the bank.

BIG CORN SHOW IN DES MOINES, IOWA

Seventh Annual Contest and Exhibit of Growers Association Was Opened Today.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Des Moines, Ia., Nov. 20.—The seventh annual corn exhibition and contest under the auspices of the Iowa State Corn Growers' association opened here today at the Coliseum with a large number of entries and exhibits than ever shown in previous years and with a record-breaking amount of prize money. The business men of the state have vied with each other this year in offering handsome prizes for the different classes of exhibits and, stimulated by this influence, the corn growers of Iowa have made the exhibition showing in the history of these exhibitions.

The exhibition will close on December 11, and during the two weeks of the show the annual meeting of the Iowa state Midwestern Agricultural Congress will be held here. Eight state organizations, including the State Corn Growers' association, the Corn Belt Meat Producers' association, the Iowa State Farmers' Institute, the Iowa State Beekeepers' association, the State Horticultural Society, the State Retail Implement Dealers' association and the Des Moines Manufacturers' and Vehicle Club are represented in the Congress.

SHAFT EMBLEM OF THE KIND FEELINGS

Austria-Hungary Has Ordered Shaft To Be Put Up To Commemorate Entente With Germany.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Vienna, Nov. 20.—To commemorate the entente between Germany and Austria-Hungary during the troubles on the Balkan peninsula which led to the annexation to Austria of the former Turkish border provinces of Bosnia and Herzegovina, the erection of a national monument is planned. The model of the monument has already been accepted by the committee in charge. It is to be erected in bronze and marble, of heroic proportions, and is to be placed upon the "Schmelz," formerly used as manure grounds for the Vienna garrison. The monument will consist of a double column. One side will show the figure of a warrior, resting his right hand upon a sword entwined with oak leaf garlands, and bearing a shield with the arms of Germany, while the other side will show a similar figure holding a wreath with the Austro-Hungarian coat of arms.

UNCLE SAM'S HUMAN MACHINES.

The upper photograph shows the government's new semi-automatic electrical tabulator. The lower photograph is of the new semi-automatic card punching machine.

(Staff Special)

Washington, — Uncle Sam has two new semi-automatic electrical machines which are the nearest approach to a human mind of any machine ever devised. They will be used in the preparation of the thirteenth census.

Card punching and tabulating methods which will greatly reduce the margin of statistical error in the compilation of the thirteenth census population data have been adopted by Director E. Dana Durand.

The card punching machines to be used at the present census differ very radically from those employed before, and will it is believed not only increase the rapidity of the work but tend to reduce the number of errors on the part of the clerks doing the punching. With the old punching machine, if an error was made in a single item, even though it might be the last item to be punched on the card, the entire card had to be destroyed. This consumed time and also resulted in a temptation to the operator to let the error go uncorrected.

It was not found possible at the last census to check all of the cards to the scheduled, and it will probably not be feasible to do so at this census. Part of the cards punched by each operator are selected at random and compared back, and if any appreciable percentage of error is discovered in those thus compared the other cards punched by the same operator are likewise compared.

The semi-automatic electrical tabulating machines to be used at the present census will also result, it is believed in a material increase of rapidity and reduction of error. This is principally brought about by the fact that the results of the count for each unit of area are automatically printed, whereas formerly, they were registered on dial form which reading had to be taken and recorded by hand. The reading of these data took a large amount of time during which the machine was idle, and inaccurate reading were not uncommon.

The new method of punching and tabulating employs a small manila card, about 6 by 3 inches in size, to represent each individual. Composed of the population April 15, 1900. For this purpose alone, 10,000,000 cards have been purchased. A file card index system is used.

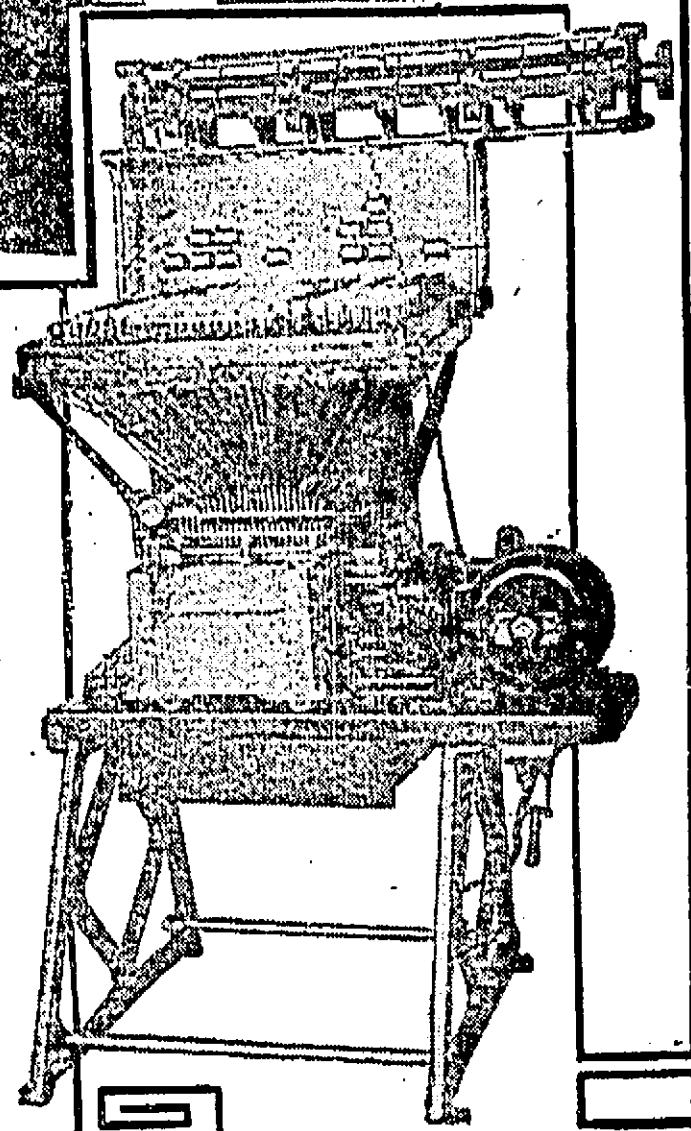

In collecting the data, a schedule is carried by the enumerators and questions in it concerning each individual will call for the name, relationship to head of family, color, sex, race, age, conjugal condition, place of birth, place of birth of parents, number of years in the United States, citizenship, occupation, whether or not employed or employed, and if employed, whether or not employed at the date of enumeration, and the number of months unemployed during the preceding calendar year, whether or not engaged in agriculture, school attendance, literacy, and tenure of home, and whether or not a survivor of the Union or Confederate army or navy.

The surface of the population card is divided by printed lines into what is called "fields" or divisions containing certain figures, abbreviations of words and combinations of letters which are used as symbols to correspond with, or represent the details or items of data as reported on the original schedule by the enumerator.

Taking the card as the representative of an individual it then becomes necessary to transfer to the card, all the data on the schedule referring to that individual. This is done by punching out the corresponding symbols, leaving open holes at these points.

The semi-automatic electrical punching machine, which will be used, is built on the plan of a typewriter, with a keyboard very similar in appearance but having 240 different keys. The machine, in its operation differs from a typewriter in a most important respect. As is well known in operating a typewriter, every time a key is depressed a letter is printed and if a mistake is made the letter must be crossed out or corrected, with considerable loss of time and disfiguring of copy. The new card punching machine obviates this as the operator instead of punching one hole at a time, can depress into position for subsequent punching as many keys as are necessary to record the required facts.

Each key is independent of all the others and can be released at will. Before pressing a button, which turns on the electric current for operating the punching mechanism, the operator can look over the depressed keys comparing them with the schedule, and if a key has been erroneously placed, it can be released and the error rectified. This work of correction is assisted by having different colors for the keys for each field or division of the card. It enables quicker discovery of the key in error. In the old style punching machine a hole was punched in the card every time the plunger was depressed. If an error in punching a symbol was made, the card had to be taken out thrown away. As the puncher's efficiency was based largely upon the number of cards punched in a day it will be seen that the old method held the operator open to the temptation to let the error stand.

With the old machine, a skillful clerk could average 1,000 cards a day. The new machine will enable an average of 3,000 cards to be punched in a day by one operator.

Another time and money saving feature of the new machine is that the feeding of cards to the punching keys is entirely automatic. As the blank cards are fed in from the rear of the machine, the punched cards are dropped into a magazine in front.

While the operator is punching a "census punch," is automatically applied a mark, or designation to the card which shows that it is one of the total number representing all of the population in a particular census area, whether city, county or state.

Automatic counters are attached to the keys and in this way, preliminary announcement of certain important population totals may be made as soon as all the cards have been punched. Under the old system, when all the punching was done by hand these figures were not available until the tabulating work was started.

The census bureau has ordered 3,000 of these new punching machines and it is calculated that the facts on the population schedule can be transferred to cards by a double shift of employees at the rate of about 250,000,000 cards a month.

After the cards have been punched and verified, they are already for the new semi-automatic electrical tabulating machine, similar in many respects to the one in the Twelfth census, which was invented by Herman Hollerith. It is in the form of a heavy cabinet, from the front of which extends a movable arm or lever attached to the outer extremity of which is a "pin box" containing a pin for each possible hole in a card.

The operator feeds cards by hand, one at a time, into a receptacle directly under the "pin box." This receiver has holes that come under those in the card. Beneath each hole is a mercury cup. After placing a card in a receiver the operator touches a button starting an electric motor. This automatically brings the "pin box" down upon the card. The electrically charged pins pass through the holes into the mercury cups, contact is accomplished and the current by means of relays causes one or more disks of counter to register in other words, each pin and its mercury cup form terminals of a separate circuit passing through an electromagnet controlling the tabulating dial for each item of data required. The pins which reach the punched surface of the card are pushed back into the box so that no contact is possible. The tabulating process is completed by an automatic recording and printing system, somewhat on the stock "ticker" plan connected with each dial. When the operator wishes to make a reading or to ascertain a total or series of totals, an electric button is touched and the details are automatically printed on ribbons of paper after which the counters return to zero.

Each tabulating machine carries 16 necessary carry 60 counters but it is believed that the tabulations necessary will only require about 20, as that represents approximately the average number of facts punched into each card.

A speed of 25,000 cards tabulated per day on one of these machines should be reached easily. Contractors have been let for the building of 100 of them. The daily output of the old style machines averaged about 10,000 cards owing to the fact that the counters had to be read by the operator and the results recorded by hand a method productive of error and loss of time.

The form of tabulator described is really semi-automatic but requires the constant attention of operator while in service. However the census experts are now at work on a tabulator designed to be wholly automatic in its action which will feed cards from a magazine and receive them into another magazine after the fashion of the new card punch. Electric motors of one-half horse-power are employed for the operation of the new census machines.

After the transfer of information to the cards have been completed the schedules are filed away in a fireproof vault for permanent preservation. The clerks handling the cards cannot tell for anything on them the names or addresses of the individuals for whom the cards stand or that in the tabulation and subsequent statistical processes the personal element is lost and the card is known only by a number. After the census is over the cards are boxed and filed away in a great room.

One other machine is employed in the work. It is an automatic electrical sorter which separates into different compartments the groups of cards arranged with reference to the character of the statistical tables for which they supply the facts.

The census of 1910 was noteworthy because of the introduction of electric tabulation but not of punching. The card punching machines were simple mechanical devices operated by hand. The symbols on a card were punched out by a plunger. The electrical tabulating machine used in 1900 and 1901 also was operated by hand. It has been officially stated that electric tabulation has proven a boon to the census office. It is also declared that if the Twelfth census, the three tables of age, sex, nativity and occupation had been made by hand, the publication of the statistics for these three subjects alone would have required the time of one hundred clerks seven years eleven months and five days.

Emigrant Potatoes.

Irish potatoes, like Irishmen, do better abroad than they do at home, and just as the average Irishman when he gets to the colonies becomes a Governor-General, like Lord Mayo, or Sir Gavan Duffy, so the average Irish seed potato planted in England knocks spots out of the average Scotch or English seed.—Irish Homestead.

Before the Day of Forks.

Forks were absolutely unknown to the Greeks and Romans, who, in tending their solid foods, used their fingers. The meats served were cut into pieces of varying size and each one divided the piece that he had before him as best he could with his fingers. As for forks, who ever dreamed of such a thing? Had not nature given each person ten fingers?

CUPID DOWNED BY GOTCH.

Frank Gotch and Miss Sadie Currie.

Chicago, Ill.—Frank Gotch, wrestler, is invulnerable. His latest championship bout was with Dan Cupid and he downed his man in five minutes. The time record is still a matter of doubt, but anyway he is not going to marry pretty Miss Sadie Currie. This girl maintains that Gotch is the champion love letter writer of the world. Below is one of the samples:

"Oct. 27, 1909.—Dear Sadie—Just received your letter. Am sorry you are having so much trouble. Am sure you have had money enough to more than pay your board at a good first-class hotel. They must have helped you spend that bunch I gave you last summer."

"I am pretty busy in the east for some time. Don't know when I'll get west."

"Enclosed find 20. Let me know if you got it O. K. Address all of your letters to the Morrison hotel, Chicago. With best wishes, ever sincerely, 'Frank'."

Are You a Judge of a Diamond?

Perhaps you are! Anyway it takes years of experience in handling these goods to make a critic. Five years—10 years—15 years will not do it.

We have been studying diamonds for the past 30 years or more and do not know it all yet. But we do know SOMETHING about them and would be pleased to tell you what we can if you are interested. Ask anyone living in Janesville and they will tell you that without doubt, we have given more attention, more thought, to the diamond business than any one else in the city. This one point coupled with the fact that we will tell you the truth in regard to the quality of a stone and again that we do not want more than a fair percentage on each sale, makes it a safe proposition for you to purchase diamonds of us.

Sensible Mothers

Quite a procession of mothers and their children are appearing at my office lately. The mothers bring the boys and girls down to have their teeth examined before the winter weather sets in.

A visit to the dentist once every six months is a wise rule of family life. Systematic mothers practice this faithfully.

An examination and my opinion on work needed costs nothing.

THREE CHANGES IN BUSINESS STANDS

Jess Brandt and Morris L. Whitford Have Retired From Tonsorial Business—Jewelry Store In New Haven.
The closing days of November are to be marked locally by several business changes on the west side of the river. This morning Jess Brandt's barber shop in the Grand Hotel block was closed, the proprietor having sold out his business to Mort Bromann, who conducts the shop adjoining, and the place will be open to some other line of business, with an ironed table on barbershops and a billiard table on the premises. Mr. Whitford has sold his barber shop business on South Franklin street to George Bennett and plans to find a new field either in California or Kentucky.

THIEVES VISITED
WOODRUFF HOME

At 545 Pearl Street Saturday Night and Carried Away Silverware, Clothing, Butter, and Other Valuables.
Between the hours of half past six and half past eight of last Saturday evening the residence of Fred Woodruff at 545 Pearl street was entered by thieves who carried away a set of silver knives and forks, tablespoons, fruit knives, a box of sugar, five pounds of sugar, an overcoat, and two pairs of shoes. The family was away from home at the time and the discovery of what had transpired was not made until Mrs. Woodruff returned from a downtown shopping expedition and found the litter which had been dumped upon the floors from dresser, sideboard, and pantry drawers. Even the beds were disarranged and everything indicated a thorough overhauling of the place from garret to cellar. Both the locks of the cellar door and the partial opening into the basement stairway were broken. The work is supposed to have been done by local talent.

FORMER RESIDENTS
CELEBRATE TODAY

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Buck Give Reception in Wedding Anniversary.
Today, in Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. William Buck, former residents of this city are celebrating the sixtieth anniversary of their wedding. In honor of the event, a large number of their friends are being entertained at a reception given at their home at 2224 Clifton avenue, Burlington, during their residence in this city Mr. and Mrs. Buck made their home at 308 South Jackson street. They have many friends in the city extend their congratulations to the couple and rejoice that they are both in very good health. Mr. and Mrs. Buck visited here in September.

FOOTBALL GAME FOR THE CHAMPIONSHIP

Seniors and Sophomores of High School to Play Deciding Contest Tonight.
This afternoon after school the football game which is to decide the championship of the high school will be played between the Seniors and the Sophomores at Athletic Park. Considerable interest is taken in the affair among the scholars. The Seniors claim that Victory will be theirs because they have five of the men who played with the first team. The Sophomores contend, however, that the fourth-year men are counting their chickens before they are hatched. Williams is captain of the Senior eleven and Ryan is chief of the Sophomore band. The two teams will line up as follows:

Seniors
French, c.
Simpson, c.
Campbell, rg.
Murphy, rg.
Sullivan, rg.
Williams, rg.

TWO WOMEN ESCORTED
HOME BY THE POLICE

Claimed That Their House Near Stone Quarry Was Stolen When They Refused to Entertain Visitors.

Claiming that their home near the stone quarry in the south end of the city had been stolen by young men whom they refused to entertain or converse with and that they had been warned that they would be attacked upon their return from town, two women visited the police station and asked for an escort Saturday evening. They were taken home in the patrol wagon. None of the parties who were supposed to have made the threats were to be found in the vicinity.

SANDPAPER PLANE

Base Screws to Permit of Change.

Another invention of interest to carpenters, joiners and men of kindred trades is the sandpaper plane designed by a Louisiana man. This implement, as shown in the illustration, closely resembles an ordinary plane, but instead of having a blade underneath it has a smooth base covered with a layer of sandpaper, which polishes off rough surfaces with great rapidity and absolute uniformity.

DOES WORK UNIFORMLY.

It. It also has the advantage of doing the work without polluting the skin off the knuckles of the person using it. The two knobs seen in the cut under the base of the plane, which fit in grooves in the body of the plane and slides backward and forward when released, can be then taken out and covered with a fresh piece of sandpaper when the old piece is worn down. Thus recovered, the base is put back, the knobs screwed up tight again to hold it firmly, and the carpenter scrapes away with ease and rapidity.

ARCHED SPRING BONNET

Arched Spring Keeps Vizor In Shape When It Is Worn.

Even the humble sunbonnet has come into its share of attention from the inventive geniuses, though it is true that Donna Fashion last season lifted the sunbonnet into the ranks of ill-fitted articles. A California woman has devised a bit of the latest of bonnets that has several peculiarities of its own. The visor, in the first place, is not made of stiff material, but is held in place by an arched spring running up through the back of it and keeping it in crescent shape. This spring, which is a thin strip of resilient metal or wire, can be inserted or taken out in a twinkling, as it runs through a slitted edge. When the spring is removed the sunbonnet collapses into a mass of soft material and can be rolled up and put in a coat pocket, or packed into a very small space. Like other sunbonnets, this new style has strings to be tied under the chin to complete the final effect.

In Germany's Expense Abroad.

Government's Thorne is an international bureau for the publication of customs tariffs, and the United States pays $1,388 annually as its proportionate share of the expense. More expense still is the annual membership fee of the United States in another institution with headquarters in Brussels. Every year $2,700 is paid by this government as a contribution to the maintenance of the international bureau of weights and measures.

BELOIT OWLS HOOT AND MAKE MERRY AT RINK

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Beloit, Wis., Nov. 20.—The newly organized Order of Owls took in a class of fifty-four members Sunday. The initiation took place in the skating rink. Fifty Owls of the Beloit rink were present to take part in the ceremonies. One Owl, however, did not have a good time. This was Fred Sly, who is charged with an assault on John Hogan a bartender, two weeks ago. He returned with some of the Beloit party yesterday and was immediately placed under arrest and held to answer for the charge against him. He is accused of way-laying Hogan at his doorstep and "beating" him one on the head with some weapon.
Sunday was Temperance day at the Beloit rink. In protest for its attitude on the license question and the way it has treated the offenders against the law.

WILLING TO RESIGN; POOR SATISFACTION

PRESIDENT ZELAYA SAYS HE WILL QUIT HIS OFFI-CIAL POSITION.

IS REGARDED AS A TRICK

Dictator Says Congress Can Name
Successor But Most Members Opposed to Him Are Either in Prison
or Fugitives.

Bluefields, Nicaragua, Nov. 29. (By Wireless to Colon, Nov. 29.)—The official announcement is made that President Zelaya is willing to tender his resignation and permit congress to name his successor.

The resignation is absurd, for the reason that congress in reality does not exist.

The deputies, with the exception of those appointed by Zelaya, either are in the penitentiary or are fugitives
from the country. His parliamentarism
naturally would select as his successor
Senator Irujo or some other Zelaya satellite who would continue the oppression which has caused the revolution.

Regarded as Palpably Absurd.
Zelaya's willingness to resign and his proposal that a congress dominated by four select his successor, it is believed, would give poor satisfaction
to the United States for the killing of its citizens.

The whole thing is regarded here
as merely another instance of Central American diplomacy and is palpably absurd.

Hot Fighting in Nicaragua.
Washington, Nov. 29.—Hot fighting
is in progress at two points in Nicaragua,
according to dispatches received by Minister Designate Salvador Castañeda,
representative of the revolutionary government in Washington.

At San Juan del Norte (Greytown),
the Estradist forces, numbering 1,500,
under Gen. Chamorro, are satisfied that they have achieved an advantage in the matter of the position over an equal force of nationalist troops
under Gen. Toledo. The Estradists believe they have the Zelayists surrounded.

At Rama, an interior point about 150 miles inland from Greytown, an engagement between the revolutionist
and nationalist forces is in progress.
The probable outcome of this engagement was not foreseen in the dispatch. Senor Castañeda believes that the revolutionists at Rama are commanded by Gen. Estrada in person.
The same dispatch would indicate that some form of telegraphic communication with the interior of Nicaragua was being established but the dispatch made no mention of how it had been started.

At the state department the utmost reticence is evidenced by all of the officials. Secretary Knox firmly refused to offer an explanation or to make any forecasts as to the government's course in Central America.
The state department denied the receipt of any dispatches tending to confirm the statements published in the papers to the effect that the United States marines had made a landing
at Bluefields.

The suggestion of the appointment of a commission of men familiar with Latin-American conditions to act in conjunction with a similar commission from Mexico as to the best method of maintaining order in the turbulent republics of the south, has been made without the sanction of the state department. No doubt exists in Washington that the state department is considering the appointment of such a commission.

REAR ADMIRAL BALKS AT TEST.
Wainwright Rebels at Navy Department's Regulation.

Washington, Nov. 29.—Rear Admiral Wainwright has placed himself on record against the navy department regulation for riding and walking for officers. The rear admiral quoted his record with Uncle Sam and said:

"If that is not good enough the government may release me. The navy is composed of more than 900 officers,
and up to date a third of them have yet to do the stunt, while some no doubt will stick to the absurd and physical condition."

Eloper Kills Girl's Father.
Camilla, Ga., Nov. 29.—Pursuing his eloping daughter, who had run away from home with Columbus Huey, T. J.
Sellers, one of the wealthiest planters
of Mitchell county, was shot to death
in the public road ten miles southwest of here when he caught the fleeing couple. The sheriff of the county was informed by the telephone of the tragedy
and is out on the trail of the fleeing man and girl.

Shoots Wife and Self.
Beatrice, Neb., Nov. 29.—Fred T.
Robinson came here from Lincoln, Neb., and, going to the home of his father-in-law, shot his wife, who was visiting there, and then shot himself.
Both will die. So far as known there had been no quarrel between the two,
and friends of Robinson say that he has shown signs of being mentally unbalanced.

Safeguard Convicted Murderer.
Roanoke, Va., Nov. 29.—Howard Little, convicted at Grundy of murdering Mrs. Doty Justice and five members of the George Meadows family near Jersey, Buchanan county, last September,
and sentenced to be electrocuted January 7, was brought to Roanoke and placed in the jail for safeguarding.

It is pith and point, more than
space and quantity, that make a good advertisement.

EXPLORER COOK SEEKS REST, SAYS BROTHER

Doctor's Apparent Seclusion Has Caused Great Anxiety Among His Friends.

New York, Nov. 29.—Dr. Frederick
A. Cook, who mysteriously disappeared from public view, is in the vicinity of New York, according to a statement issued by his brother, W. L.
Cook, seeking to reassure a wide threatened nervous breakdown.

Dr. Cook is in the vicinity of New York trying to get a much needed rest. If he decides to go to Europe
there will be no secrecy concerning his departure. I think that his friends and critics alike should be charitable enough to allow him to rest until his strength is restored. He has not been reading the newspapers in the last few days, and is not responsible for the statements that have been issued by those who were acting as his spokesmen.

In sending his data to Copenhagen
Dr. Cook has fulfilled his obligations to the public.

The foregoing was issued by the explorer's brother, in view of the fact that the doctor's apparent seclusion caused great anxiety among his friends, leaving even John R. Bradley, his financial backer, puzzled and exasperated.

This statement doesn't tell where
Dr. Cook is. Friends are still searching for him.

Washington, Nov. 29.—Walter Wellman, whose preparations for a conquest of the north pole in an airship
were abandoned upon the announcement of the claims of Dr. Frederick
A. Cook and Commander Robert E.
Peary, issued here a long statement
in which he analyzes the narratives of the two explorers, declaring that of Peary's "preludes, workmanlike, consistent, credible in every particular,"
and denouncing that of Dr. Cook as a self-evident and deliberate imposture.

"Cook's story is delirious both in what it does tell and what it does not tell," Mr. Wellman declares. The gist of Mr. Wellman's finding is that with his meager party and equipment Dr.
Cook could not possibly have accomplished the feat for which he claims credit, that his astronomical data are too infinitely precise to have been made under the claimed conditions in the field.

20 JAPANESE LABORERS KILLED.
Great Northern Work Train Wrecked
by Washout; 15 Hurt.

Vancouver, B. C., Nov. 29.—Twenty Japanese were killed and 15 injured,
several of them fatally, in the wreck
of a work train on the Great Northern railway between Vancouver and New Westminster.

The worktrain ran into a washout
in the vicinity of Vancouver.
That the Japanese work train and not a later passenger train from Seattle met the disaster is simply a piece of luck for the passengers of the night express.

And the work train not been on the line the express from Seattle for Vancouver would not have been held at New Westminster.

The owl passenger train would, under normal traffic conditions, have continued through to Vancouver without stopping and it, instead of the work train, would have plunged into the gully.

GEN. GRANT MAY BE REBUKED.
State Department Is Angry at Army Commander.

Washington, Nov. 29.—Gen. Frederick Dent Grant may find himself in hot water as the result of his reported utterances on the subject of the state department's demand upon President Zelaya for the execution of two Americans, Cannon and Groce.

Officials connected with the state department intimate that they consider entirely unwarranted the general's report which comment that this government will have no valid claim for reparation against Zelaya in case it is found that Cannon and Groce were insurrectionists. Gen. Grant is reported to have said if they were insurrectionists Zelaya had a right under international law to treat them as belligerents and deal with them as he saw fit.

300 PERSONS MADE HOMELESS.
Evicted Mill Operatives and Families
Sleep in Open.

Ludlow, Mass., Nov. 29.—Suffering
providals among the operatives and their families who were evicted by the Ludlow Manufacturing associates.
Of the 300 persons made homeless,
at least 75 slept in the open. Whole families huddled about feeble fires
built of wood from the cellars of evicted families.

Some of those evicted are without shoes and few of the men and women have stockings. Women with infants in their arms and women about to become mothers have divided their time between the streets and the shelter of the homes of evicted families.

Harmon for President.
Richmond, Va., Nov. 29.—Former Gov. R. B. Glenn of North Carolina, in an interview here, said:

"Judson Harmon, governor of Ohio,
will be the next presidential nominee
of the Democratic party, in my judgment. Everywhere I have been I have found Harmon the leading candidate in public and party opinion."

Former United States Senator is Ill.
Omaha, Neb., Nov. 29.—Charles H.
Dietrich, former United States senator from Nebraska, was brought here from his home at Hastings for treatment at the Methodist hospital for heart troubles. His condition is said to be serious.

WOULD OUST PRESIDENT GOMEZ

VICE-PRESIDENT ZAYAS SEEKS RETIREMENT OF CUBAN
CHIEF EXECUTIVE.

LETTER STARTLES LIBERALS

President Declares He Considers Fusion Accomplished and Will Make Cabinet Appointments Without Regard to Factions.

Havana, Nov. 29.—The political atmosphere of Cuba is more clouded with suggestions of trouble today
than it has been since the downfall of President Palma.

The reestablished republic is scarcely nine months old, and already rumors have become prevalent that some way is being sought to secure the retirement of President Gomez,
either by persuasion or compulsion,
and place Vice-President Zayas at the head of the nation.

President Faces Serious Conditions.
Probably the most serious condition
that the president is now facing is that resulting from the continued failure of efforts to effect a complete fusion between his partisans and those of Vice-President Zayas. For about three years those negotiations have been in progress, and at least half a dozen times announcement has been made of their success. During the presidential campaign there was a truce, but with the beginning of the distribution of offices under the new administration mutual distrust was reestablished, each side contending vehemently for its share.

A few days ago Gen. Gomez started the liberal leaders by addressing to them a letter, in which he stated that,
so far as he was officially concerned,
he had decided to consider the fusion
as an accomplished fact, and in view of this he would in the future make appointments to his cabinet without any reference to the particular faction of the liberal party to which the appointee might have belonged.

The attitude of the president was particularly objectionable to the Zay-istas because the important post of secretary of state was recently made vacant by the resignation of Justo Garcia Velez, a prominent member of the faction, and it was feared that the president would seize on the opportunity to fill it with one of his own supporters.

Fusion Not Yet Accomplished.
The incident has yet to develop the accomplishment of actual fusion and should it result in the breaking off
of existing negotiations it is not improbable that the administration will have two opposing parties to deal with instead of only one.

Another disquieting feature of the situation is the renewal of agitation
for the formation of a negro party.
Steps preliminary to organization
were taken at a meeting of colored men in the province of Oriente.

The grievance of the negroes is that they have not been accorded the number of offices to which they feel that they are entitled.

PLANS AMERICAN INVASION.
FREDDIE WELSH, ENGLISH LIGHT
WEIGHT CHAMPION.

London.—Freddie Welsh who won the lightweight championship of England by defeating Johnny Smeathers in a 20-round battle before the National Sporting club of London is planning an American invasion with a view to annexing the world's championship.
He expects to meet Battling Nelson, it is understood here that Nelson will insist upon a 45-round agreement, which would mean that the battle would be fought in California. Lord Lansdale is taking an especial interest in Welsh.
At the end of the recent battle he presented the winner with a beautiful belt indicative of the new title. Welsh is a cautious fighter but when he enters the ring he is a whirlwind of speed.

Well Answered.
The life of Dante's struggle
through fire was in the reckless sargasms of his answer to the prince of Verona, who asked him how he could account for the fact that in the household of princes the court fool was in greater favor than the philosopher.
"Similarity of mind," said the dapper genius, "is, all the world over, the source of friendship."

None of President Brown's associates is prepared to venture an opinion
on the attitude the national president

will maintain toward the A. A. P.
However there are many who think that Mr. Brown will accord this new organization exactly what it has asked for by completely ignoring it.
That there will be a big renewal of athletic activity in this city as the result of the election of Mr. Brown to the head of the organization that for 21 years has controlled amateur athletics in this country no one doubts.
Mr. Brown may have arranged for a number of banned indoor meets for the coming winter.

Adds to Beauty.
What makes a girl pretty is the way
she can look when you tell her she is.

New in New York.
An old man peddling pamphlets in lower Broadway while he sang "Way Down in the Old Co's Field" attracted a crowd and held it in spite of a fire engine that dashed by at the time.
There was nothing unusual in the old man's appearance, so it must have been the song. It is old in North Carolina.—New York Times.

This Is What the People of Atlanta Say of the "E-M-F" Car

Hello--Good-Bye! SEE YOU IN ATLANTA!

THAT E-M-F REAR AXLE was the most familiar sight on all roads leading to Atlanta yesterday. It is now known at sight by every owner of cars that participated in the various reliability runs—usually it was seen as through a cloud—but they all caught a glimpse of the car as she went by and they all recognized the usual cheerful greeting of the E-M-F parties as they passed—"Hello!—Good-bye!—See you in Atlanta!"—and the E-M-F disappeared in the clouds of dust ahead.

AND THE NEXT TIME THEY SAW HER she was wearing the "perfect score" badge, happily parked at the race track, where her occupants were enjoying the races as only a party can enjoy speed contests who have themselves just cleaned up everything on the road.

OVER ONE HUNDRED E-M-F "30" CARS took part in the various reliability runs—tried conclusions with the $5,000 and $6,000 fellows as well as every make in its own class and the result is a bunch of "perfects" that makes rivals green with envy and crestfallen with chagrin.

"WE PASSED EVERYTHING BUT THE PACEMAKER," says E. C. MOMAND, of Fitzgerald. "Passed 23 cars—all there were ahead of us at the start—made the fastest time; got a perfect score, and of course, hauled down the money!"

"209 MILES IN 6 hours and 45 minutes—road driving, mind you, not track racing—and with four passengers, among whom was Mayor Knapp, of Fitzgerald. Made the distance from Fitzgerald to Macon in 3:55, and from Macon to Atlanta in 2:50—lapsed time, mind you, not 'running time.'"

"I HAD DRIVEN THAT CAR 18,000 miles, too—was one of the first E-M-F cars to come into the South—full brother to the one that broke the five-mile record at Rome last week. It was the only car in its class to get a perfect score in the run from Fitzgerald."

"NEVER LEFT THE SEAT on the run from Athens—72 miles," says W. L. Jackson, who won first, fastest time and perfect score in that run. "We just cleaned up the patch, and did it easily." Another E-M-F "30" got second, too—driven by its proud owner, E. S. Harris, of Bethlehem.

"IF THERE HAD BEEN ANY MORE E-M-F'S in the run no other car would have had a look-in. As there were only the two, we had to be satisfied with first and second places. We'll do better next time, though, for everybody over our way is buying E-M-F cars now and I think we'll hog the whole run next season."

MR. JACKSON STARTED NINTH, but he finished first, of course. Only thing that retarded his time was the pacemaker—and he actually did run into that car from the rear when it stopped unexpectedly without signaling him. Very sorry it happened—but it's awfully hard for an E-M-F driver to stay behind anything when he's out for a run and his destination is Atlanta and the occasion Automobile Week. Can you blame him?

THOSE ARE ONLY a few of the "scores of perfect scores" made by these wonder-ful cars yesterday. It's the snappiest, speediest, sturdiest thing on wheels. That's the verdict of everybody. And the longer you own one—the farther you have driven it—the oftener you have tried it in competition with other cars—the more enthusiastic do you become over your car.

ENVOIOUS RIVALS USED TO SAY E-M-F was too powerful—too speedy, climbed hills too easily—to last. Well, what would you expect them to say? Had to say something to sell their own cars. She had beaten them at everything she had ever entered—races, hill climbs, endurance contests—so they couldn't discount her performance.

THE BEST ANSWER to their assertions as to lasting qualities is that given by Mr. Momand, who will tell you, if you care to write him, that he had already driven his car over 18,000 miles—and the little 209-mile drive of yesterday was simply nuts to that old campaigner.

SHE'S LIKE A SPIRITED HORSE—Just touch your toe to the throttle and she jumps from under like a thoroughbred that has never felt the whip. "Really, there ought to be a special law exempting E-M-F owners from punishment for fast driving," says Mayor Knapp. "I don't see how any man with red blood in his veins can withstand the temptation to cut her loose once in a while—on a holiday trip like this, anyway." And, we agree with His Honor the Mayor.

USUALLY WE DON'T ADVERTISE SPEED—try to discourage it. Sell more of it than any other concern, so it has become kind of commonplace with us, don't you know. But these are private owners, mostly—amateurs all. And they are so proud of their cars we can't help being proud of them, too.

Are You an E-M-F Owner-- or a Dust Eater?

NEW PRESIDENT OF A. A. U.
Evert C. Brown.

Chicago.—Evert C. Brown, executive of the Chicago Athletic Association and president of the Amateur Athletic Union, still is in New York City,
where he will remain for several days.
This compels the Cherry Circle administers of the "big man in athletics,"
who expected Mr. Brown to return sooner, to postpone their plan of a homecoming reception.

One of the first things President
Brown announced today was the important change in the rules covering athletic contests in the future—all athletic competing in running races

of more than five miles must undergo a physical examination before they will be permitted to start.

It is known to many associates of Mr. Brown in the conduct of A. A. U.
affairs in the west that he long has been in favor of conservatism among young athletes—a firm believer in the policy of safety to the human mechanism rather than glory from victory. The observance of this national organization will do much toward eliminating the harmful effects of the long races. Especially will it have a bearing upon the youthful as-

WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

BEFORE you buy any, or any more, Christmas presents for anyone else, let me suggest you buy a certain one for yourself.

It doesn't need to cost you more than five cents, you can use it for five years, and if you do, I will guarantee that you will get at least five dollars' worth of satisfaction out of it.

In plain English, I am advising you to buy yourself a little notebook, and jot down in it, from this Christmas on, every gift you give and the name of the recipient.

"What on earth did I give Aunt Harriet last year? I'd like to give her one of those little black ones, but I can't remember whether it was she or Aunt Jennie, and, of course, it would be terrible if I should give her another one."

That's a plaint I heard yesterday.

If you don't keep such a little notebook as I suggest, of course, you've made similar plaints, and, of course, you will keep on making them until you begin to keep a record of your Christmas giving.

My mother has a little Christmas notebook she has kept for fifteen years.

Besides preventing her from making the mistake of sending the same sort of gift to the same person two years in succession, it is a treasure house for the whole family.

For, in addition to keeping the record of all her gift and their recipients, she also keeps a list of prices and a record of the shops where she has been most successful in purchasing various articles.

For instance, by referring to her little book, mother can tell us the very best place to purchase gloves, the shop where they have such sheer and dainty handkerchiefs at such a reasonable price, the little jeweler's store where they have the unusually attractive assortment of hatpins and moderate-priced collar pins, the best stocked publishing house from which to order Christmas books, and a dozen other invaluable bits of information that we would have to learn by gradual experience if she had not preserved the fruits of hers for us.

If anything should happen to that book, I think our Christmas presents would either cost us at least one-fourth more, or be at least one-fourth less valuable than they now are.

Another way in which such a notebook is valuable, is in helping you to give some friend a set of books by adding one or two each Christmas.

Undoubtedly, the pleasure of gradual acquisition which anyone receives from such a gift adds greatly to its material value.

I know one woman who has gradually given her young niece full sets of Scott, Dickens and Shakespeare.

And the best part of it is that the girl has read each book as it came. If anyone had given her outright a set of any of those authors, she would probably have never read them all, or at least not thoroughly.

If you try to do anything like this without a notebook, you are practically sure to forget what you have given and either duplicate your gifts or be obliged to make awkward inquiries.

On the whole, if you make yourself a Christmas present, not only of the notebook, but also of the determination to keep it up, I think that before you are through with it, you will get as much satisfaction out of it as of any Christmas present you receive this year.

CHAUTAQUA SALUTE A MENACE.

Government Doctor Claims the Waving Handkerchief Spread Disease. Washington, Nov. 20.—Dr. William G. Woodward, the health officer of the District of Columbia, is in favor of abolishing the only form of athletics indulged in by members and graduates of the Chautauqua Literature and Reading Circle. He says that the waving handkerchief is a menace to health.

The salute, as all Chautauquians know, is a harmless waving of the handkerchief when their friends make a hit on the lecture platform or sail away for distant lands.

"The custom of waving a handkerchief vigorously in the air," says Dr. Woodward, "is very dangerous. Nearly every contagious disease can be communicated in this manner if the handkerchief is slightly soiled. If the handkerchief has just been purchased or has come straight from the laundry, there is not the slightest danger, but the waving of a handkerchief that has been used even once is harmful."

When a handkerchief is waved the wind blows the germs from it. Typhoid fever, scarlet fever, tuberculosis, smallpox and chickenpox, measles, leprosy and diphtheria may be thus spread."

DAILY DIET HINTS

APPETITE UNSAFE GUIDE.

Appetite is not always a trustworthy indication of the needs of the system, because appetite is usually abnormal, as a result of unnatural modes of living. Unnatural methods of preparing food, hurried eating and abnormal mental states have produced abnormal appetite. Therefore we must, if we are to avoid a large degree of conscious control by reason. But in doing this we need to be careful not to destroy spontaneity. Mr. Horace Fletcher has done a world of good by showing the benefit to be derived from thorough mastication. He has not only regained perfect health but has acquired the endurance and strength of an athlete at an age when most men are rapidly declining. Yet Mr. Fletcher's philosophy deals with only one of the causes of abnormal appetite and consequent ill health.

Hear it yourself - the Edison Phonograph

You cannot judge the Edison by hearing other kinds. The Edison is the sound-reproducing machine at its best. It is not a talking machine. It is a Phonograph reproducing every sound faithfully—the song exactly the way the singer sang it; the opera exactly the way the orchestra played it; the two-step exactly the way the band rendered it.

That is the Edison Phonograph as Mr. Edison makes it—the object of his constant, daily care.

When he says he wants to see an Edison Phonograph in every home, he means your home. Do you not want one there? Do you not need this amusement maker for your own sake, for your children and for your guests? Hear one today. Hear all the others too and compare. Only in this way can you know that what we say is true.

WORTHY OF CONFIDENCE

An Offer Backed by One of Our Most Reputable Concerns

We pay for all medicine used during the trial. If our remedy fails to completely relieve you of constipation. We take all the risk. You are not obligated to us in any way whatever, if you accept our offer. That's a mighty broad statement, but we mean every word of it. Could anything be more fair for you?

A most scientific, common-sense remedy is Rexall Orderlies, which are eaten like candy. Their active principle is a recent scientific discovery that is odorless, colorless and tasteless; very pronounced, gentle and pleasant in action, and particularly agreeable in every way. This ingredient does not cause diarrhea, nausea, indigestion, griping or any inconvenience whatever. Rexall Orderlies are particularly good for children, aged and delicate persons.

If you suffer from chronic or habitual constipation, or the associate or dependent chronic ailments, we urge you to try Rexall Orderlies at our risk. Remember you can get them in Janesville only at our store, 12 tablets 10 cents; 25 tablets 25 cents.—The Rexall Store, The Smith Drug Co.

WILL THEY RECEIVE HER?

Washington.—Will Washington receive the Japanese heiress? This is the sole question in society circles. Great riches in Japan are rarer than noble birth, and on that account special interest attaches to a Japanese bride who has arrived at San Francisco on the liner Manchuria, accompanied by her husband. The little lady is a daughter of the wealthiest house in Japan and is worth $1,000,000 or more in her own right. On the passenger list the honeymoon couple are down as Mr. and Mrs. S. Takaki, but in pointing them out their fellow passengers, particularly the bride's countrymen, called with hushed voices, "She is of the Mitsui family."

The bride was Miss Takaki Mitsui, whose father is at the head of the mining branch of the Mitsui interests. The Mitsuis are to Japan what the Rothschilds are to Europe. They are bankers, shipowners, merchants, manufacturers and numerous other things that it takes money to be. Each branch of the business is managed by a member of the family and the house has branch offices in every important city in the world.

The Mitsui family financed the Japanese government in its war with Russia as it has other ventures and naturally when a Miss Mitsui, rich, beautiful and socially popular, elected to wed, it was a big event in Tokyo. They were married October 9 and have been honeymooning ever since.

Takaki is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania, 07, and is taking his bride to New York, where he will have charge of the Mitsui interests. Both Takaki and his bride have traveled extensively and both speak English.

Takaki said yesterday that he had the honor to be appointed to instruct Prince Shimadzu in Tokyo dialect at the time the prince went from his home in Matsuyama, Prince Shimadzu was an officer in the Japanese navy and was here during the Portofino festival on the cruiser Idzumo.

FIRST VISIT OF
PAUL TO EUROPESECOND PERIOD OF APOSTLE'S MINISTRY DESCRIBED BY REV. MR. LAUGHLIN.

THE LECTURE ILLUSTRATED

With Some Beautifully Colored Lantern Slides, Depicting Scenes and Places Mentioned.

At the Presbyterian church last evening, Rev. Dr. Laughlin preached

the subject of a series of sermons on the subject, "A Chapter in a Great Man's Life," it being an account of the life of the Apostle Paul during the second period of his labors in the Christian cause. The address was illustrated with some handsome, beautifully colored lantern slides.

Before starting the story of the second period of Paul's journeyings,

Dr. Laughlin gave a review of the first tour, beginning with the time

when they first started out, up until the first Christian meeting at Jerusalem.

"From Antioch, Paul and Barnabas, who was traveling with him, went back to Antioch to tell the people of Antioch of the decision of council at

Jerusalem as to whether it was necessary that a man should become a Jew

before he could become a Christian.

And Paul and Barnabas traveled here

quite a while. But Paul and Barnabas got into quite a lengthy quarrel

with resulted in their parting company. Barnabas went to the south and commenced missionary work, but

what became of him we do not know

as that is about the last time that he is mentioned. But Paul went to the North, taking with him, Silas, who had probably accompanied Paul and Barnabas up from Jerusalem.

"After leaving Antioch, Paul and

Silas went north, finally, to Treach-

While preaching here Paul had the vision in which the Macedonian appeared to be calling him to come over into Macedonia. Some have wondered who this man was and some have said that it was Luke. Paul believed a vision came from God and determined to go at once over into Macedonia.

"From this time on we begin to notice a change in the manner of Paul's teaching.

"Paul and Silas went to Philippi,

the first city in Europe to hear the preaching of the Word. They went

at once to the synagogue and began preaching. Paul's preaching converted Lydia and her household as well

as her household during a part of the time they stayed there.

"In Philippi there was a girl who possessed the power of divination;

that is, she was possessed of an evil

spirit. Whenever she passed Paul and Silas on the street, this instinct

told her that these were holy men and she called out after them. In modern phraseology, she "balled

them out." This disturbed Paul greatly so one day he called the evil spirit

out of her and she lost all her evil

powers. This angered the men who owned the girl and who had been receiving rich profits and they stirred

up the people against Paul and Silas.

The commitment of the two was in surrender to the stocks. Paul was prisoned at midnight they were heard

praising and singing songs by the other prisoners in the jail. And God sent an earthquake which caused the prison to shake violently. The earthquake so surprised the jailer that he ran and threw himself before Paul and

Silas, crying out: "What must I do to be saved?" Paul told him, "Believe on the Lord, Jesus Christ." The man was converted there and washed the stripes left on the backs of Paul and

Silas by the beating they had received. Paul baptized the jailer there in the prison and during the night

the man's entire household were converted and baptized.

"When Paul and Silas were brought before the magistrate he could find no

criminal offense that they had committed and let them go, but the Jews

created a disturbance and they went to Thessalonica.

"At Thessalonica they first went to the synagogue to preach to the Jews

and their teaching was so effective

that a church was established there.

The Jews became angered and drove him out of Thessalonica and he journeyed on to Berea.

"The scripture says that the Bereans

were more noble than the Thessalonians, for they searched the scriptures

to see if the things which Paul taught

were true, and they found that the things were according to the Word. But here, again, the Jews' wrath rose

against him and he went next to Athens.

"In Athens he had a varied experience. Paul said the people were very religious and his teachings so appealed to them that they carried him

up to Mars Hill to hear what he had to say. Among their many gods was one whom they called the "Unknown

God." To the Athenians, Paul said:

"I am the unknown God declare to you."

"At Athens, Paul changed his method of approach. He did not mention the old testament, but quoted the old poets. He adapted himself to the situation. His ministry in Athens,

however, was not very successful, but few being converted, so he went on to Corinth.

"Corinth was a wonderful city, a commercial city, where were assembled people from all quarters of the known world. It was called the

Athena of America, then New York

would be the Corinth of the United States.

"While in Corinth he met two people who had been driven out of Rome,

Aquila and Priscilla, tent-makers

like himself.

"We have a very impression about

Paul. Two, many of his think of him

as a rugged beggar, traveling about

from city to city and securing accommodations as best he could, but he was not. As a Roman citizen, he was permitted to go almost any place

in the known world, for the Roman empire was almost world-wide. He could speak Greek fluently and Greek

was considered the cultured language.

He was a gentleman and a man of money, talking with him two servants,

wherever he traveled. He was no ordinary man, but a man of culture, dignity and power. Although such he did not consider it degrading that he should labor with his hands.

"In Corinth Paul remained eighteen months. The period of time after he left Corinth is not clearly described

and it is difficult to trace the details of his journey. He was in Athens

again, but went directly from there to Ephesus.

"Ephesus was the city devoted to the worship of the goddess Diana. The people of the city had worked out a certain philosophy of life and this was contained in a set of books. The sophistry of the philosophy of the

Ephesians of that day is the same as the sophistry found in the principles of Christian Science and the best answer to Christian Science is found in

Paul's epistle to the Ephesians. Paul told the Ephesians that they did not need the images that they worshiped,

which angered Demetrius, the silver-

smith, whose trade was to make these images. Demetrius stirred up the people and the mob pursued Paul and

Silas, but being unable to catch them

told hands on one of the native Christians and dragged him to the prison. The people held a meeting in the town

hall and several of the leaders arose

to speak to incense the people but could not agree. The town clerk interfered with them, dismissing the meeting telling them that unless they ceased violence they ought have to pay for what they had done.

"In Ephesus was a sorcerer who performed many things by black art,

calling on his gods to help him. When

this man wished to perform an especially great miracle he called on the unknown God. One day he was called to the house of a man and to do his work called on Paul. The man who had sent for the sorcerer

had heard Paul preaching, and when he heard the magician speak thus he became greatly angered and raved the man a severe beating. The rumor of the punishment of the sorcerer became known to the people of Ephesus

and they gathered together all the books of black art, worth ten thousand pieces of silver, and made a huge bonfire of them.

"One of the unfortunate things

about Paul was that he preached too

long, so that he as well as the people were often physically exhausted.

While teaching in Ephesus a young man who was learning fell out of a window to the ground with such force

that it was thought he would not recover, but Paul went down and restored him.

"Paul bade the elders of the church

at Ephesus goodbye and went to Jerusalem, where he resolved to go to Rome.

"As a Roman citizen, Paul could visit many cities. The Jews were, in

PUNISH THE LAND FRAUD

SECRETARY BALLINGER IN ANNUAL REPORT SAYS PROSECUTION MUST CONTINUE.

TELLS OF THE YEAR'S WORK

Development of Public Lands Through Private Enterprise Under National Supervision and Control Desired—Reclamation Service Discussed.

Washington, Nov. 29.—The personnel of Uncle Sam's establishment is increasing by leaps and bounds, the grand total of all federal employees at present being approximately 370,065, as against 306,141 in 1907, an increase in the two years of about 64,000 persons, or about twenty per cent.

These and other interesting facts are brought out in the official register, or government "blue book," for 1909, which will be issued shortly by Director of the Census Durand.

The new publication will show that there were 28,947 persons in the federal employ in Washington on July 1 last, the annual pay roll for them being $31,641,235, an average of nearly $1,100 each.

The total will be temporarily swollen next year by the addition of about 3,000 persons to the clerical force of the census bureau, during nearly $5,000,000 in salaries, adding the year or more of their employment.

The District of Columbia leads all the states and territories in the number of government employees.

Secretary Ballinger comments on the old public land statutes, and continues:

"The liberal and rapid disposition of the public lands under these statutes and the lax methods of administration which for a long time prevailed naturally provoked the feeling that the public domain was legitimate prey for the unscrupulous and that it was no crime to violate or circumvent the land laws. It is to be regretted that we, as a nation, were so tardy to realize the importance of preventing so large a measure of our natural resources passing into the hands of land speculators and speculators, with no view to development looking to the national welfare.

Must Continue Prosecutions.

"It may be safely said that millions of acres of timber and other lands have been unlawfully obtained, and it is also true that actions to recover such lands have in most instances long since been barred by the statute of limitations. The principal awakening to our wretched course came under our predecessor's administration. The bold and vigorous prosecutions of land frauds, through Secretaries Hittchcock and Garfield, have restored a salutary respect for the law, and the public mind has rapidly grasped the importance of safeguarding the further disposition of our natural resources in the public lands in the interest of the public good as against private greed.

Use Private Enterprises.

"On this present policy of conserving the natural resources of the public domain, while development is the key-note, the best thought of the day is not that development shall be by national agencies, but that wise utilization shall be secured through private enterprise under national supervision and control. Therefore, if material progress is to be made in securing the best use of our remaining public lands, congress must be called upon to enact remedial legislation."

Mr. Ballinger then gives in detail his recommendations for the classification of public lands, and the features of a measure which he advises for the direction of the disposal of water-power sites.

The Reclamation Service.

Concerning the reclamation service, the report says in part:

"In view of the importance of a speedy completion of existing projects and their proper extension, and of the necessity in 1912 of an adjustment between the states by which the major portion of the funds arising from the sale of public lands within each state and territory shall have been expended so far as practicable within such state or territory, and in view of the importance of making a beneficial use of waters already appropriated or capable of appropriation to which rights may be lost for nonuse, I believe an urgent appeal should be made to congress to authorize the issuance of certificates of indebtedness, or of bonds against the reclamation fund, to an aggregate not exceeding $30,000,000, or so much thereof as may be needed."

Thorough reorganization of the Indian bureau is in progress, says Mr. Ballinger, and he recommends that the Indian warlike at New York, Chicago, Omaha, St. Louis and San Francisco be closed as soon as possible. A more advanced policy respecting the maintenance, improvement and operation of the Yellowstone and Yosemite national parks is urged on the government.

Flight Cooled Mine Fire.

Lipton, Ind., Nov. 29.—One hundred and fifty men are fighting a fire in the Summit mine, one of the largest coal mines in this field. It is estimated that a loss of $20,000 already has been caused and the fire is still raging, although the mine has been flooded to a depth of several feet.

Nine Marletta Men Missing.

Chicago, Nov. 29.—Nine men are missing from the United States gunboat Marletta, which is lying off Port Lincoln, Costa Rica. The six, manned by a crew of four, and the wholeboat, with five men aboard, were carried out to sea in the heavy weather on Friday night.

Cheap goods at low prices with sales; good goods at fair prices, customers. The quality is remembered after the price has been forgotten.

370,065 NOW DOING UNCLE SAM'S WORK

Federal Employees Have Increased 20 Per Cent. in Two Years—More Are Needed.

Washington, Nov. 29.—The personnel of Uncle Sam's establishment is increasing by leaps and bounds, the grand total of all federal employees at present being approximately 370,065, as against 306,141 in 1907, an increase in the two years of about 64,000 persons, or about twenty per cent.

These and other interesting facts are brought out in the official register, or government "blue book," for 1909, which will be issued shortly by Director of the Census Durand.

The new publication will show that there were 28,947 persons in the federal employ in Washington on July 1 last, the annual pay roll for them being $31,641,235, an average of nearly $1,100 each.

DYNAMITE IN HOSPITAL COAL.

Explosion Perils 25 Patients, But Attendants Prevent Panic.

Chicago, Nov. 29.—Twenty-five patients in the American hospital, 2068 West Monroe street, were thrown into a panic and serious results were narrowly averted last night when an explosion believed to have been caused by dynamite, wrecked the furnace and heating plant. The shock of the explosion shook the building, and the detonation added terror to the bed-ridden patients.

"It's another bomb!" cried several patients.

Many of the inmates of the hospital, some of whom were recovering from serious operations, tried to leave their beds, and seek safety in flight.

Twenty surgeons and nurses, constituting the hospital staff, immediately rushed to the rooms and wards to pacify the frightened occupants. They assured the patients there was no danger, and succeeded in allaying the panic.

It is the belief of Dr. Max Thorek, president of the hospital, that dynamite left in the coal after it had been mined was responsible for the explosion.

INSANE MAN SHOTS GENERAL.

French Soldier Is Seriously Wounded Through Mistaken Identity.

Paris, Nov. 29.—An individual, believed to be insane, and having an imaginary grievance against the war department, shot and seriously wounded Gen. Verand on the steps of the Hotel Continental, as the general was entering the hotel to attend a banquet. The man was arrested.

Later it was learned that he had mistaken Gen. Verand for Gen. Brun, minister of war.

The attempted assassination created a sensation. It occurred a few moments after President Fallieres left the Hotel Bristol, near by, where he was calling on King Manuel. The people and policemen in the streets first thought that it was an attempt against the life of the president of the republic or the king of Portugal.

Hundreds ran in the direction of the hotel and several of the officers sprang upon Gen. Verand's assailant, who proved to be an Algerian.

INSANE BOY KILLS COMPANION.

Accidentally Shoots Chum Then Deliberately Kills Him.

Omaha, Neb., Nov. 29.—While hunting Wesley McBride, aged 18, according to his own version of the affair, accidentally shot his companion, Harry Long, aged 15, in the jaw and then fired two shots into his head to "make a good job of it."

McBride says he was twirling a revolver on his finger when the accident happened.

McBride's parents say his illness, according to a recent severe illness, was the cause.

Longworth Dinner Costly.

Pittsburg, Pa., Nov. 29.—Not the least in a long list of expenses incurred during the recent campaign in this county and flood with the clerk of courts by the Republican county committee appears a bill of $500 for the dinner given to Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth at the Duquesne club. The occasion was the presence here of Congressman Longworth and his wife during a speaking tour of the state.

Theatrical Man Found Dead.

San Antonio, Tex., Nov. 29.—Clinton D. Fisk, newspaper and theatrical man, son of Gen. Clinton D. Fisk, founder of Fisk university at Nashville, Tenn., was found dead in bed. He had been ill only a few days. He was a native of St. Louis. His wife, May Isbell Fisk, is an actress now playing in London.

Shoots Sweetheart Fatally.

West Plains, Mo., Nov. 29.—During a sweetheart's quarrel, Margie A. Payne shot and mortally wounded Everett Henn and then drank No. 9, although the shooting, which occurred at the girl's home. Henn is unable to make a statement.

Mrs. Taft's Secretary to Wed.

Washington, Nov. 29.—The engagement of Miss Alice Blech, Mrs. Taft's social secretary, to Louis Richard Walworth, U. S. N., was announced by her mother, Mrs. Paul Blech. No date is set for the wedding.

CHAPTER III.

The Word of the Book.

This awakening was not as had been that of yesterday. She prided herself on being in full possession of her faculties at once and she arose instantly and stepped out upon the sand. The man gave way to her respectfully as she passed through the entrance. The mind is brightest in the early morning after sleep. She would give him another concept before the uses of the day, impaired his receptivity. She had differentiated him from the rest of creation when she taught him that he was a man. She would show him now that he was a divided empire by declaring herself a woman. She said her hand upon her own breast and said clearly:

"Woman!" giving the first syllable the long "o" and definitely accenting the second. She pointed to him and repeated "Woman!" to herself and repeated "Woman!" Patiently over and over again she said the word until by and by he could say it, too.

The baby begins his language with monosyllabic sounds which mean little and yet which have been identified with the mother. It was fitting that this man who was as a child and yet as a man should begin with something deeper than infantile babble.

Man and woman!—she drove these two ideas into his consciousness before she ceased her task. If his idea of man was at first infinite, she gave him the concept of limitations immediately following.

He was avid for instruction. Once he had learned the words, he babbed them "man, woman, man, woman," until the iteration was almost mad-dening.

While she washed her face and hands at the stream he plunged into a brimming pool fed by the brook ere it descended to the sea. She noticed that he could swim like a fish itself, naturally, instinctively, in an untrained way of course, without the fancy strokes in which she had been taught, but brilliantly and well, nevertheless. She would have given the world for a dip, but it was not to be, not yet, that is.

Then they breakfasted and she tried to teach him "No" and "Yes" and the meaning thereof. She intended to make a circuit of the island later, but there was no hurry. She began to realize that time was nothing to her or to him, and so she idled under the trees, setting him tasks as the picking of fruit and then stopping him with "No" and encouraging him with "Yes" until he had some idea of those words also. It was a relief to her to get them firmly fixed in his mind, for they provided him with alternatives to the man and woman words on which he harped.

After a while they started around the island. It was perhaps six or eight miles in circumference. There was a sand beach everywhere, except in one place where the rocks came sheer down to the shore. From what she could tell by an inspection of the surface there was an under-water entrance to some cave in the rocks which some day might be worth exploring.

On the other side of the island from the cave, which was already denominated home in her mind, she came across the remains of a ship's boat deep bedded in the sand. The boat had been perhaps wrecked and broken on the barrier reef, or possibly it had sailed through the entrance near at hand—the only opening in the encircling guard of splintered rock which she had seen—and had been hurled upon the beach where it had lain through years until buried in the shifting sand. Only the gunwales of the boat and the stem and the stern were exposed. She had no idea as to what its condition was, but she promised that as soon as she could she would make shift at something for a shovel and dig it out. She gazed at it for a long time wondering if it were an explanation of the presence of the solitary inhabitant of the island, but nothing was to be gained by wonderment and speculation.

A little stream she noticed trickled from under a thick covert across the sand toward the sea. She turned and idly walked away from the beach, following the stream. The man, who had stood with her watching the boat, did not for a moment notice her, but so soon as he discovered her direction, ran after her and without offering to touch her barred the way with extended arms.

"No, no!" he cried, his first real spontaneous use of the word.

She stopped, reflected, waved the man aside and went on. There was something in the copious that he feared. She had not known that he possessed the faculty. Her curiosity was too strong to be denied. She must see what it was. She quickened her pace as if to shake him off, but he easily kept by her side plaintively ejaculating his monosyllabic negative. It was evident that he knew the meaning of the word, she was undergrowth of the copious, she hesitated in apprehension of she knew not what, but summoning her courage parted the reeds and peered in them. She shrank back with a sudden cry of horror, for at her feet, the vegetation springing through in every direction, lay a skeleton, a human skeleton. It lay across the path and at the feet was a smaller skeleton which she judged to be that of a dog. With instinctive repugnance she released the rushes and turned hastily away.

"Yes, yes," said the man by her side with an expression of unusual relief on his face which she could scarcely fail to notice.

She knew that she could not thus evade her duties or shrink from her problems. She had marked the gleam of metal amid the bones. She knew that she would have to come back and examine those last remnants of human presence, other than their own, upon the island, but she could not do it just then.

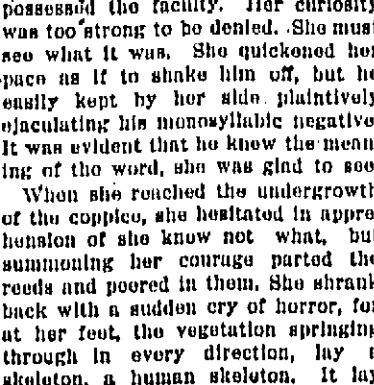

There was nothing else that she discovered on her tour about her prison until she returned to the cave. It was afternoon by this time and she determined to employ some of her hours in a more careful inspection of it. Realizing that the lesson of the night before if re-enforced and maintained would stand her in good stead, she made the man remain outside while she went within. Her hope was to establish in his mind a custom of avoidance of that recess which should develop into a fixed habit, also she could not be free. She could always secure a few moments respite from his presence, at least she had done so heretofore, but she did not dare to try now he would sustain longer absence, hence the necessity for establishing herself in the cave as a harbor of refuge, a sanctuary.

At first glance there was nothing within the little apartment, washed out ages ago from the hard stone by what action of water she could well imagine, but as she scrutinized it closely she noticed in a recess a part where the rock wall crapped out in a sort of low shelf. On the shelf—wonder of wonders!—lay a book. Next to humanity, a book, she thought, would be the most precious shroud of her solitude.

It was a small, leather-bound volume. Dust in the form of tiny particles of sand lay thick upon it. The cave was sheltered from the prevailing winds also it might have been buried, but under the circumstances it might have lain there for ages and in that dry, pure air have suffered no deterioration or decay.

Crusoe was petrified when he saw the footprint in the sand. The woman was not less startled or less amazed when she saw the book on the rock. With a little cry of delight she stepped toward it, bent down, lifted it up, handling it carefully in spite of nervous exultation, shook the dust from it, and opened it. She instantly let it fall from her hands with a look of disappointment and disgust. One glance was enough. The book was the Bible, she had no interest in the Bible, a collection of ancient genealogies and time-worn fables, myths for the credulous and impossible legends, mixed up with poetry whose inspiration was false and history whose details were trivial. For this woman, who had forgotten how to pray and who had blasphemed God, had little use for the book of Books. Rather any other printed page, she had thought bitterly, than that one.

She had acted upon impulse, not in her disdain for the Bible and that for which it stood—that was founded upon reason and philosophy, she gazed, but in her action in casting it from her. It had no more than rolled upon the sand at her feet when, with swift reconsideration, she stooped and lifted it again. It had occurred to her that there might be writing there in and that the writing might give her

She had acted upon impulse, not in her disdain for the Bible and that for which it stood—that was founded upon reason and philosophy, she gazed, but in her action in casting it from her. It had no more than rolled upon the sand at her feet when, with swift reconsideration, she stooped and lifted it again. It had occurred to her that there might be writing there in and that the writing might give her a clue to the "mystery" of the man. She knew that birth and death were frequently entered upon the blank leaves interspersed between the Old and New Testaments. Unfamiliar though she was with the contents of the book, she easily found the place and eagerly looked at the leaves. Alas, they were blank. She turned to the fly leaves at the beginning of the book. There was a name written there and in a woman's hand.

"John Revell Charnock," she read. Below was a date 25 years before the moment of her landing.

John Revell Charnock. It was a strange name, English in part, with a suggestion of France in the middle name. It meant nothing to her. Was this John Revell Charnock who stood outside looking at her? If so, who was John Revell Charnock? The problem was not greatly elucidated. There was no evidence that the book belonged to the man or the man to the book, or even that the one appointed remotely to the other. There was a certain likelihood, however, that they had come to the island together.

She had been sure that the man was a white man. She had thought that he looked like an American, an Englishman, an Anglo-Saxon, and the longer she looked at him with the Bible in her hand the more sure she became.

She had been disappointed that the book had turned out to be the Bible, but at least it would serve one useful purpose. By it, without the laborious effort involved in making letters upon the sand, she might teach the man before her to read. She wished she had a worthier volume from her point of view through which to introduce him to the world's literature, but that would do the best she could with that. It was pitiful, as she said it, that with a nascent soul to work with, she should be compelled to enlighten it through the medium of time-worn superstition.

Below the shelf, not quite buried in the sand, there was a small metal box. She knelt down, scraped the sand away and presently uncovered it. It appeared to be of silver. It was of such a size that she could clasp it easily in her hand. She opened it without some difficulty and found within it—nothing! Well, not exactly nothing, but certainly that for which she could see little value. There were several hard pieces of stone of a reddish color chipped and shaped in curious fashion. She turned the box over and examined it on all sides. There were initials upon it, a monogram. She rubbed it clean with her hands and studied it carefully—"J. R. C." The book and the box had belonged to the same person, John Revell Charnock.

An Example.

"Some adjectives," said the teacher, "are made from nouns, such as dangerous, meaning full of danger; and hazardous, full of hazard. Can any boy give me another example?" "Yes, sir," replied the fat boy at the end of the form, "plious, full of pie."

HOBBYHORSE CYCLE

Form of Horse Mounted on Tricycle Adds to the Fun of Riding.

A new kind of velocipede, and one which will give the boy an added pleasure in riding it, is that designed by an Illinois man. It works the same as an ordinary velocipede, but the saddle, instead of being on a mere framework, is on a horse body, which gives the rider the impression of being mounted on a pony. The steering bar runs up through the neck of the horse, and the saddle, of course, is in the same position it would be on a real animal. Below the body of the horse is the gear wheel and pedals, the pedals being in relatively the same position that stirrups would be. Mounted on this little horse, a small boy can pedal away and easily do, that he is on a real pony. The advantage of this steel horse is that it is not likely to run away or throw its rider and needs much less attention than the flesh-and-blood article.

A Roman Matron's Epitaph.

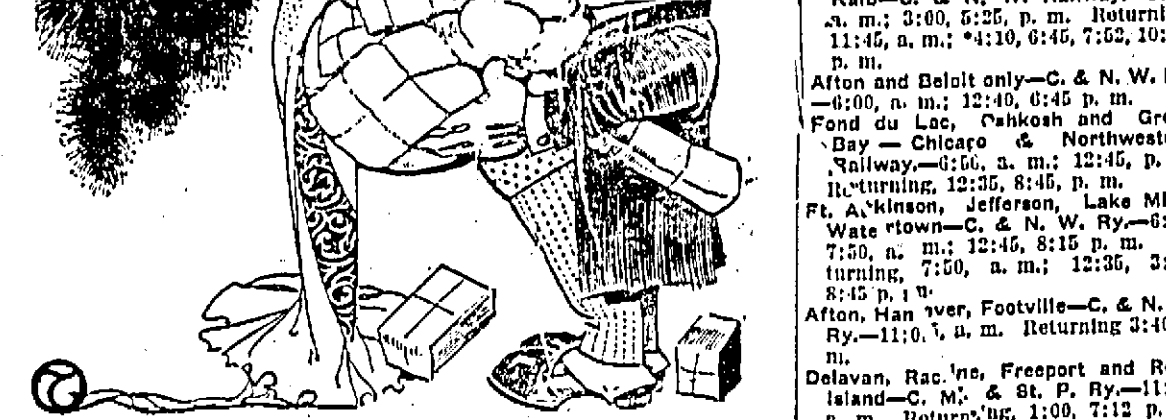

"Stranger, what I have to say is quickly told; stop and read it to the end. Here is the unadorned tomb of a beautiful woman. Claudia was the name her parents gave her. Her husband she loved with her whole heart. Two sons she bore; of them the one she buried beneath the sod. The other she leaves on earth, the charming life discourse, gentle in mien, she kept the house, she made the wool, I have finished. Go thy way."—From "So-City and Politics, in Ancient Rome."

Better Mind of Human Nature.

Most men find out very little about the better side of human nature till they fall ill and need help. Then it is that their real friends come to their relief. Money, the hardest of commodities to get, is never spent more freely than in assisting friends who are in trouble.

HARMONY.
Harmony, Nov. 26.—A large number of Harmony people attended the supper given by St. Mary's church of Milton Junction. All report having a good time.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McDowell of Janesville visited with their brother, R. McDowell, Thursday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Stewart spent Thursday afternoon with their daughter, Mrs. James Campbell.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Cook of Stoughton and Mrs. O. L. Cook and Mrs. Fred Talmith of Albion, spent Thanksgiving with Mrs. C. A. Emerson.

Miss Emma Dallman entertained company Sunday.

The Misses Hoach, and Mr. Ed. Hoach attended a shower on Blanche Godfrey, Wednesday night.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Hoach were guests at a farewell party at Auld's.

MONROE.
Monroe, Wis., Nov. 29.—The board of education of this city have received two new Lincoln memorial address tablets which will be placed this week—one in the east school building, and the other in the south building.

The donors of the tablets are Edwin Ludlow and Mrs. Caroline E. Blumhagen. A year ago the pupils of the high school purchased one of these tablets and had it placed in the new building, and in September of this year Miss Janet Jennings donated one to the Churchill school. The center or old high school building is the only school now in the city not in possession of a tablet of the famous address.

The business men of the city gave a banquet to the members of the high school football team Saturday evening at the Ludlow house. A sumptuous supper was served at 8 o'clock, after which a number of toasts were responded to by members of the team and a few of the business men.

The annual convention of the school boards will be held on December 6, at the court house in this city. County Sup't. J. C. Poon argues that school districts have no right to attend and to draw per diem and mileage.

The cooking school, conducted by Mrs. Sarah Amott Dodson, opened today in the vestry of the Universalist church. Over seventy-five ladies were in attendance at the opening of the course. Through courtesy of the Monroe Light & Fuel Co., a new gas stove was installed for the demonstrations in cooking, giving the ladies instructions in how to operate a gas stove, as well as the instructions in cooking.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sery have returned from their wedding trip to Rockford and have gone to house-keeping in the First ward.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Glouge have returned from Helena, Mont., where they have been for the past few weeks.

Miss Ella Leachy of Darlington is a guest of Miss Eva Hickinger.

J. W. Stewart is moving into the Harlow house which he recently purchased.

Mrs. Martha House has taken rooms over the Smith restaurant, on the southeast corner of the square and will continue her dressmaking in Monroe.

Mrs. Jacob Baumgartner and children have returned from a visit to relatives at Beloit.

Mrs. O. J. Blake, who has been here on a visit to her daughter, Mrs. Chas. E. Shrinier, has returned to her home at Milwaukee.

Mr. and Mrs. John Strahm will spend the first part of the week with friends in Chicago.

The three-year old child of Wm. Rabe, residing on W. Farmer street, has diphtheria in a mild form. The house has been quarantined by Health Officer W. B. Guark.

Miss Mary Ragan of Napoleon, O., is here on a visit to the Misses Phoebe and Grace Dunwiddie.

Glen Stuntz of Colon, Isthmus of Panama, is a guest of C. L. Chambers and family.

NORTH SPRING VALLEY.
North Spring Valley, Nov. 29.—William Harper and family spent Thanksgiving with Mr. and Mrs. Chris Dempster.

Miss Bernie Palmer of Chicago spent several days at home last week.

A number of farmers from here attended the sale at Mrs. Capell's, Wednesday.

Mrs. C. O. Lawton of Madison spent last week at the home of her brother, Frank Van Sidde.

Glenn Palmer of Madison came home for Thanksgiving.

Mr. Albright shelled corn for Elbert Fraser last week.

G. H. Howard was a business caller here recently.

Elmer Capell moved to the place he purchased near Broadhead Saturday.

Jacob Witte purchased some calves at the Ryan sale last week.

Charles Stevens of Broadhead was a business caller here Saturday.

Mrs. Mary Clark of Catville visited relatives here last week.

LAUNCH NATION-WIDE MISSION MOVEMENT.
At the left above is Col. E. W. Halford and at the right above J. Campbell White. Below is Edward H. Donsall.

Philadelphia, Pa.—A nation-wide laymen's missionary movement. This is the result of the monster meetings held here this week. This movement will result in the calling of laymen's missionary meetings in 75 of the leading cities of the United States.

The opening session of the Philadelphia convention of the movement was held in the city hall last evening. More than 1,500 men were in attendance. There was an entire absence of the emotional element, which in the minds of many outside the Christian churches—and some inside—is the chief characteristic of religious movements.

Here it could be seen was no ephemeral movement, but something with the weight of American good sense behind it and its purpose was to "evangelize the world in this generation." This might seem an impossible task, and scoffers could easily point to the trembling millions of Asia and other continents, and ask if all sincerely Christian leaders in this laymen's missionary movement believe the world can be evangelized in a single generation, after nearly 1,900 years of work has left larger part of the world in ignorance of Christianity?

After supper was served, the chairman of the local committee, Edward H. Donsall, vice president of the Land Title and Trust company asked that the convention send a message of greeting to the Baltimore convention.

The following greeting was wired: "Thirteen hundred men at opening session and supper of Philadelphia convention send greeting and goodspeed to our fellow laymen of Baltimore."

Mr. Donsall delivered a brief address of welcome and encouragement to the Philadelphia convention. He spoke of the period of preparation and the efforts made by the committee to make the convention a success. He was deeply touched when he referred to his own interest in the missionary movement. "When the treasure is, there will the heart also be," he quoted.

Col. Elijah W. Halford of New York, vice president of the laymen's missionary movement to the Methodist Episcopal church addressed the convention on the "National Missionary Campaign."

Simon Melzer, editor of the Churchman, of New York, spoke on "The Essential Missionary Character of Christianity."

The closing address of the evening was made by J. Campbell White, secretary of the laymen's missionary movement. He said:

"We spend over $25,000,000 a year for religious purposes in this country. One-fourth, or perhaps even one-fifth of such an amount would support an adequate force of missionaries. Instead of giving $25,000,000 to $50,000,000 a year, however, we give less than $10,000,000 a year, or less than 4 per cent of what we spend for Christian work at home."

"The two things needed are intelligence and business methods. The city of Toronto has increased its missionary offerings from $120,000 to $300,000 within a little more than a year by the laymen of all churches taking hold as advocates and organizers. The Southern Presbyterian church has increased its missionary offerings in three years from $223,000 to $412,000 per year. "There are at least five different units that can be dealt with in this missionary program, (1) the individual, (2) the congregation, (3) the denomination, (4) the city or community, and (5) the nation. Until the laymen's movement was organized the first three of these were the only units dealt with. But the experience of the past three years proves that the city and the nation are in some ways the most important units in this problem. "It is easier for an individual to do his part when the congregation is trying to do its whole duty. It is easier for a congregation to do its part when the churches of a whole city are moving together. It is easiest for any city to do its part when the cities of the whole nation are banding up for serious business. "Within the next six months we hope to see the 75 leading cities of America adopt a worthy missionary policy and put it into immediate operation in their churches. If this is done it will shake the nation and the nation moves, it will move Christendom. And when Christendom moves it will shake the world."

Not Room Enough.
While riding on an electric car, during his first visit to the city, a farmer passed the yard of a monument company, where gravestones and monuments were displayed. Turning to his host, he remarked in an awestricken voice: "They dew bury 'em close in the city, don't they?"—Lippincott's.

DAILY DIET HINTS

By DR. T. J. ALLEN
Food Specialist.

REST AFTER EATING.

Experiments have shown that protracted sleeping or deep sleeping, after eating, retards digestion, but that what may be called a superficial doze for a short time is highly beneficial, especially if followed by half an hour's light recreation.

The man who runs a factory works his employees, his machinery and his capital to the best advantage, by calculation, and it seems inconsistent that the same principle should not be applied to the most important business of life—living. This does not mean that we should learn to live entirely by rule, for a certain degree of spontaneity, of abandon, even, is necessary to the best living. Enjoyment must be spontaneous. The best digestion is that which knows no digestion. But the application of this principle does not imply that one should not, for instance, plan an automobile trip or a game of checkers or a hygienic diet.

FIGHT ON RICH MAN'S WILL.

Jury Throws Out Testament Because Maker Drank.

St. Louis, Nov. 29.—An appeal will be taken in the fight over the will of Joseph D. Lucas, wealthy turfman and sporting man, a jury having thrown out the testament because Lucas took five drinks before he made it. The case came up in the circuit court of St. Louis county at Clayton. The jury held that Lucas was incapable of bequeathing his property because of the drink.

In returning the verdict the jury went directly against the instructions of Judge McChenney, who practically ruled that Lucas' prolonged spree could not be taken as prima facie evidence of his mental incompetency. The estate is valued at $1,000,000.

Lucas, who died in 1902, was for years the leading turfman in St. Louis. If the verdict stands, the estate will go to 28 heirs of the husband rather than his wife's heirs.

Spencer, Ind., Bank Closed.
Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 29.—Following the closing of the private bank of Beem, Peden & Co. at Spencer, Ind., by State Auditor Millholmer it developed that $74,000 of the bank's funds had been loaned without security to the Beem Manufacturing Company, operated by the three sons of David E. Beem, one of the heads of the institution.

Rich Woman Is Arrested.

Peoria, Ill., Nov. 29.—Mrs. Minnie Lupton Davis, wife of a wealthy real estate man, is charged with shoplifting in the Schipper-Block store, Carl Block, a member of the firm, declared he detected her. She was placed under arrest and taken to headquarters, where a search revealed dress goods and lace which it is alleged were stolen.

Believe Ship Is Lost.

San Juan, Porto Rico, Nov. 29.—It is 19 days since the Herrera line steamer Maria Herrera left Santiago Cuba, with a cargo of cattle bound for Ponce, Porto Rico. The steamer has not been heard from since and it is believed she has foundered.

Hunter Shoots Man; Flees.

Ashland, Wis., Nov. 29.—Potter Pwyloski of Deasemor was shot in the forehead while deer hunting and probably will die. He says the hunter who shot him fled.
